

The Resource Connection celebrates 25 years...

When asked to look back on the last twenty five years, Leilani gets a distant but contented look. This is a woman who has set out to change the way people live their lives and do their work in the course of those lives. After thousands of clients and a quarter of a century, to say she has succeeded would be an understatement.

Leilani believes passionately in the power of assessment technology and training and development and its ability to change the way individuals see themselves and thereby engage in the work they do. Leilani's mission has been to strengthen the individual's sense of self awareness, maximize individual, team and leadership potential and empower growth and overall performance for both the company and the community.

Leilani has managed to create and build an extraordinary resource for the way individuals may reflect upon themselves and thereby translate that understanding of self into working more efficiently and positively with their coworkers. Leilani believes that the sum truly is greater than its parts and that when members of any community are given the powerful tools necessary to work optimally together, it can be fundamentally life and enterprise changing. This is the Resource Connection's driving force.

The Resource Connection has not only committed itself to delivering insightful learning tools and training to develop the talent, skills and abilities of individuals in organizational life, but also doing so in a meaningful way. The Resource Connection encourages the development of leadership skills so that both the individual and the organization may emerge more successfully than otherwise could have been possible.

Leilani and The Resource Connection both understand that one third of our lives are spent in the workplace. We establish bonds, create friendships, come to understandings and even at times experience conflict, but rarely do we give the time or the resources necessary to optimize all of this "life" that we are doing together in the workplace. The Resource Connection has managed to successfully revolutionize the status quo by challenging the conventional wisdom of clinical and disconnected tasks and allowing instead for connected and engaged collaboration and maximization of potential.

After more than a quarter of a century, The Resource Connection, with Leilani at the helm, takes this opportunity to reflect and extend its gratitude for the honor and privilege of serving our clients, our customers and our friends.
